Coat Drive Oct. 1-15

Coat Weather? Time to Get Ready!

The last few days have finally brought relief from the overwhelmingly and miserably hot summer – one of the hottest on record. And while the cool breezes are not yet enough to pull out the jackets, we know those days are coming.

It's always hard to think about those people who have no coats when the weather dips into freezing temperatures. For these, the very cold is as dangerous as the very hot. We worry about children; we worry about the elderly; we worry about those who are exposed to the outdoors without shelter. And that is why, each year, White's Chapel initiates a coat drive, collecting new and gently-used coats and jackets (plus hats, gloves, and scarves) for these who are in danger from the cold.

The winter clothing drive begins Sunday, Oct. 1, lasting two weeks through Sunday, Oct. 15. Coats will be distributed to the former El Buen Samaritano community in Fort Worth, Refugee Initiative families, kids at T.A. Sims Elementary and O.H. Stowe Elementary, and other folks in need.

"Last year was the first year we added the refugee families as well as O.H. Stowe Elementary to our giving," explained Sharon Nelson, who with Heather Rowley is coordinating the event. "The school social workers know the kids at their schools that will need warm clothing. This way, the jackets will go to the children that are definitely in need."

Nelson added that leaders are also asking for donations of scarves, hats & gloves. Two of the church's specialty groups – Looms of Love and Heavenly

C.S. Lewis' Life Told in One-Man Play

By Cassidy Johnson

As a beloved author, C.S. Lewis is remembered through writings, books, movies, and plays. His ultimate acceptance of the gospel led him to a life-long mission to better understand God's sovereignty and better identify his own theological beliefs. Many of his inspirational writings invite the reader to join along in the 'magical' journey that blends logic, fantasy, and Christian beliefs together in a way that is truly unique.

"Wrong will be right, when Aslan comes in sight, At the sound of his roar, sorrows will be no more, When he bares his teeth, winter meets its death, And when he shakes his mane, we shall have spring again." – C.S. Lewis, "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe"

Clive Staples Lewis (also known as "Jack") was a respected scholar and professor of English literature, holding positions at both Oxford and Cambridge. Despite rejecting Christianity in his youth, a few of his friends helped bring him back to Christ. From then on, his beliefs heavily influenced his writings and even led him to participate in radio broadcasts about Christianity during World War II. Throughout the course of his career, he wrote more than 30 books – both fiction and nonfiction. Some of the most notable include "The Chronicles of Narnia," "The Space Trilogy," "Mere Christianity," "Miracles," and "The Screwtape Letters." Even though he passed away in 1963, he continues to be known by multiple generations for his writings and beliefs.

"C.S. Lewis was brought up a Christian but became an atheist rather early on during his time at boarding school, and he remained so throughout his time as a student at Oxford University," shared actor Philip Crowley. "But he had a number of friends who were believers, and the questions they asked him about his own beliefs challenged him. Lewis had been rigorously trained in logic by his atheist tutor, William Kirkpatrick ('The Great Knock'). But as he began

Learning Contentment in a Culture of More: A White's Chapel Women's Event

White's Chapel will welcome Melissa Spoelstra on Monday, Oct. 9 at 6 p.m. The event will be in Evans Hall and focus on the topic contentment.

White's Chapel will welcome Melissa Spoelstra on Monday, Oct. 9 at 6 p.m. The event will be in Evans Hall and focus on the topic contentment. "We are always chasing more, letting envy take over, and wishing for the greener grass," said Rev. Joy Roberson, Women's Ministry Pastor. "This topic will remind us of where we should be looking for contentment and whose approval we should be looking for."

Roberson says that Spoelstra recently moved to Texas and this will be her first visit to White's Chapel. "We are so happy to have her to come to speak," added Roberson. "She is personable, charismatic and excited about sharing God's word with others."

Spoelstra describes herself as first and foremost a Christ-follower. "I am madly in love with Jesus and addicted

Dinner, History & Methodism

101

By Cassidy Johnson

This October, Dr. Todd Renner will bring back the popular Methodism 101 offering, a one-night dinner and 60-minute lecture on the history, doctrine and organization of the Methodist Church. Highlighting the roots of our faith, this evening of information-sharing is sure to benefit both new and long-standing church members.

On Monday, Oct. 2, people will gather in Evans Hall for this special presentation with the White's Chapel co-pastor. In step with Wesleyan tradition, dinner will – of course – be provided and served at 6 p.m. Renner will start the presentation at 6:30 p.m.

"We have historically offered Methodism 101 every other year for probably six or eight years," Renner shared. "I've done it four times in the past, and this will be the fifth time... I don't think we've done one since COVID, and there are a lot of new people in the church – not just new to White's Chapel but a lot of people who are new to Methodism – and I really want them to understand this faith tradition that they are a part of now... there's a real pride that comes in 'oh wow, I didn't know that my church believes this,' and for a lot of folks, it gives them language to describe their own personal beliefs... so that's why I think it's really important. Especially as we start to look at the new opportunities that the future holds for us, for us to start at a common center – a common Christ-centered focus – we branch out and we grow from there."

This year's Methodism 101 class will be Renner's fifth time presenting the material, but it will be his first year sharing information about the Methodist Collegiate College in this type of setting. Renner will outline what it is and why it

A Place for Everyone

By Dr. John McKellar

We are having a wonderful time in Point I Counterpoint this fall. If you have never attended one of these get togethers, I want to take a moment to invite you. It is a wonderful time of study and fellowship! I like to think of it as a cross between a Bible study and the old Monday Night Live we held during the COVID season of quarantine.

Let me share with you what happens at Point I Counterpoint. Each week we...

- Sing a hymn
- Have fun conversation about life in the church
- Discuss things happening at White's Chapel
- Look at 'this day in history'
- Look at a moment in White's Chapel history
- Take a menti survey poll on the topic of the night (this is one of those phone questions where we get instant audience feedback)
- Have Bible study on a topic and explore what both the Old Testament and the New Testament say on the subject
- End with prayer time and concerns of the community

Recently we studied the great passage from Hebrews 10: 24-25 which states: "And let us consider how to provoke one another to love and good deeds, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another, and all the more as you see the Day approaching."

At Point I Counterpoint we strive to do just that: We provoke one another to love and good deeds when we gather together. We gather to worship, study, serve, and pray. But we also encourage each other and help each other be faithful when we meet for fellowship. To share a meal and table conversation strengthens our ability to connect with each other and love Christ's way.

It has been said that one of the most dangerous things is a Christian in isolation. I believe we need to battle that growing tendency.

In a world where the news and political divisions of our day can easily discourage us, we have a job to do.

It is important to look for ways we can share the love of Christ with those around us.

We are called to be encouragers. It is important to look for ways we can share the love of Christ with those around us.

Here are some of my suggestions:

- Invite people to church
- Laugh, and share joy with others
- Be tuned in to people and take the time to really listen
- Press toward the positive. Let's help each other not get bogged down in negativity. Let's hunt for solutions and seek healing for the broken places.

Remember how important we are in the Kingdom of God. An old legend tells us that a dying soldier looked up at Florence Nightingale, who was tenderly nursing him, and murmured: "you're Christ to me."

I pray that someone might say that of us!

to apply that logic to think about and test the ideas he was exposed to from his Christian friends, he found himself moving back from atheism to theism and eventually, to orthodox Christianity."

Crowley will play Lewis in "An Evening with C.S. Lewis." He will bring the one-man play to White's Chapel on Thursday, Sept. 28 at 6:30 p.m. in the sanctuary. It is free to the public, and registration is not required.

"The play is like a window into the life of C.S. Lewis as it takes place in his home at the Kilns, outside of Oxford," Crowley said. "If you have any sense of humor, I promise you will find yourself laughing, as Lewis shows his lighthearted side throughout the play. He recounts stories from his childhood, his school days, his time as an Oxford Don and tutor, and his relationships with J.R.R. Tolkien and others. The second act... is all about his wife, Joy, and the tremendous impact she had on his life. When she enters the stage, things get delightfully raucous."

The play was originally written by David Payne, who gave the actor permission to perform it at the church. While Crowley is a classically trained musician and professional actor, he said the one-man play initially "fell into his lap" in 2014 when a friend told him that he would be perfect for the part. In 2016, he did a few performances at his own church, Lake Avenue in Pasadena, California, as well. Recently, one of Crowley's friends talked with a White's Chapel member and recommended the play. Once it was brought to Adult Discipleship Director Tracy Christensen, she was eager to bring it to the church community.

"We are so excited to welcome Philip Crowley all the way from California," Christensen said. "This one-man play is sure to bring some of the magic, wonder and fun that C.S. Lewis offered throughout his life and work. People of any age are welcome to come!"

"The play is funny, poignant, moving, challenging," Crowley shared. "I can boast about the play itself because I didn't write it. It was written by David Payne to whom I am indebted for giving his permission for me to perform it."

Having performed this play a few times, Crowley believes this project has allowed him to dive deeper into the mind of C.S. Lewis and better understand his writings.

"I was already familiar with C. S. Lewis before tackling this project. But as I dove deeper into the play and was privileged to perform it at more and more venues, I came to a deeper and deeper appreciation of the man and his works," he said. "Still today, I am reading his books and essays, finding new insights all the time. Though I do not consider myself an authority on Lewis, I do feel more confident to talk about him with a degree of experience, and at many presentations of the play, I have had the opportunity to have a Q and A time afterward with the audience. Those have always been especially rewarding."

Crowley stressed that the play, "An Evening with C.S. Lewis," is for anyone – Christians and non-believers alike. It is both for people who are familiar with Lewis, as they may recognize references in the play, and for people who are "meeting him" for the first time.

"I am hoping that people who come to see the play will be encouraged by the fact that there are deep thinkers and highly intelligent people out there who are believers in Christ, that sound Biblical doctrine can stand up to the scrutiny of any who challenge it," Crowley said. "I would also recommend the play to any who are going through a time of personal grief, as the second act of the play deals almost entirely with Lewis' relationship with his wife, who died of cancer. Here is Lewis at his most vulnerable. He struggles with God's sovereignty on a very deep and personal level, finally emerging with a faith that is not only intact, but strengthened... Please come see the play. God bless you. And enjoy the show!"

"Imagine yourself as a living house. God comes in to rebuild that house. At first, perhaps, you can understand what He is doing. He is getting the drains right and stopping the leaks in the roof and so on; you knew that those jobs needed doing and so you are not surprised. But presently He starts knocking the house about in a way that hurts abominably and does not seem to make any sense. What on earth is He up to? The explanation is that He is building quite a different house from the one you thought of - throwing out a new wing here, putting on an extra floor there, running up towers, making courtyards. You thought you were being made into a decent little cottage: but He is building a palace. He intends to come and live in it Himself."

WC Students

Crave & Intersection

Middle School students are invited to Crave, the weekly worship service for seventh and eighth grade students. Crave will meet on Sundays from 4 to 5:30 p.m. each week. High school students are invited to Intersection, the weekly worship service for ninth through 12th grade students. Intersection will meet on Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Both groups will meet on the second floor of the Student Education Building. We are so excited about what this fall semester will look like and how it will help students better know and follow Jesus together with their peers.

Cell Groups

On Sunday, Sept. 10, Cell Groups, the WC Students small group ministry, kicked off for our ninth through 12th grade students. Cell groups were created to help students find community and walk out their faith with their peers. Students enjoy fellowship and small group discussions about their faith during their time together. All students are invited to join a group. If you are interested in leading, offering your house as a host home, or joining a Cell Group, contact Shelby Aman at saman@whiteschapel.org for more information.

Middle School Fall Retreat

Next weekend, we will be taking our seventh and eighth grade students on our Middle School Fall Retreat. This year on fall retreat, campers will get an opportunity to enjoy many of the wonderful things that Sky Ranch offers. Students can play games, fly down the zip line, go fishing, play 'Gaga Ball,' and so much more! There will also be time for worship and small group discussions with their cabin mates. WC Students will be leading the programming. It is sure to be an unforgettable weekend! The cost for the trip is $199. If your student has not yet signed up, do not hesitate to sign your student up before it's too late!

Ski Trip

For the first time in five years, WC Students is offering the High School Ski Trip. We will be traveling to Copper Mountain, Colorado via charter buses. The trip is Dec. 27 to Jan. 1. This is an amazing opportunity for students to get closer to God, dig into the Word, and have fun on the slopes. Starting Sept. 18, the cost is $850. There is limited space on this trip. Registration is open, and people will be able to attend on a first come, first served basis. For more information, review the info packet at wcstudents.com.

Coat Drive

Stitchers – will also be hard at work making hats and scarves for this effort.

Coats can be brand new or gently used, and coats and jackets of all sizes are needed. "We especially like newer coats for the children," said Nelson. "It makes them feel so good with new clothing. As you can imagine, kids grow quickly, and each year outgrow the jackets they had the prior year. We have children in need from at least two schools, as well as refugees and those in the El Buen community."

There will be three drop-off locations on campus: near the 'Welcome' doors in the main concourse, in the WC Kids mission corner, and in the Administration Building.

Volunteers are needed to help sort and organize the donated coats. Also, distribution of the coats will occur on various dates, requiring additional volunteers. There is a further need for volunteers who speak Spanish when distributing items to the El Buen community.

"The people in the El Buen Samaritano community in Fort Worth who received the coats were so appreciative and so excited to get winter coats for their family members!" said Heather Rowley about their previous reaction to the Coat Drive. "For me, it was so rewarding watching the kids pick out a brand-new coat. They were so excited."

Sorting will take place on the mornings of Oct. 2, 5, 9, 12 and 16 from 9 to 10 a.m. in the concourse. Distribution dates will also vary: White's Chapel Dental Clinic (the El Buen community) will be Thursday, Oct. 19, from 4 to 6 p.m. The Refugee Initiative distribution will be Saturday, Oct. 28, from noon to 1 p.m. at Hurst UMC, following their ELL classes.

Last year, one of the high school cell groups was able to help distribute the coats to the refugees. "We had three girls helping, all sophomores at Southlake Carroll," said Rowley. "One of the girls, Sydney, was excited because she was taking French in school and could speak to the refugees about the coats they needed. She was able to make a connection."

Volunteers will also deliver jackets to the schools. Delivery dates are yet to be established. Any extras will go to other families in need.

"Last year, we collected over 1,300 coats and jackets," said Nelson. "It was amazing – our congregation was so generous! And the need seems to be even greater this year. It's a great time to clean out your closets!"

to the study of His Word," she declares on her website. Her blog contains musings about what God is teaching her on any given day. "I am passionate about knowing Christ and inspiring other women to seek Him by opening our ears to listen to His Spirit, reading His Word curiously, asking questions, exercising good hermeneutics, and clinging tightly to God through the storms of life."

She is the wife of a pastor and the mother of four children. "I am working out my faith on a daily basis," she said. "Between sports practices, doctor's appointments, church stuff, and the minutia of everyday life, I need God's Word to draw me back to the things of first importance."

With a degree in Bible Theology from Moody Bible Institute, Spoelstra is a contributor for "Girlfriends in God" – an online devotional – as well as the Proverbs 31 ministries "First Five app." Additionally, she has written nine Bible studies complete with teaching videos, leader's guide, and participant workbooks.

The Monday evening women's event requires registration and a $20 fee that includes dinner. Registration is available on the White's Chapel website.

WC Women's events are planned by the WC Women's Council, which consists of 15 women of all generations and stages of life. Each one is a vital part of the ministry through brainstorming, planning events, logistics, inviting others, praying and implementing ministry activities. They are all part of a team – a team that tries to follow the Holy Spirit's leading in how we can best minister to our church and community. Many of the members of the council lead Bible studies, small groups, and are active in other ministries. WC is blessed to have such a dedicated group of women in leadership.

All women in the White's Chapel and greater community are encouraged to become a part of the church's vital Women's Ministry. Each of our weekly Bible studies is open and welcoming to new women.

"It is an excellent way to meet other women in a small group setting," said Roberson.

Additionally, women are actively involved in missions and each year have a working mission trip. The Mary and Martha Missions team is active throughout the year in projects close to home. For more information, please contact Rev. Joy Roberson.

exists in addition to the historical content about the Methodist movement.

"What will we learn about the MCC?

We will talk about the Methodist Collegiate's storied past for... it's four-month history," Renner shared. "We will share what it is, why it is, what we hope for, and some of the practical challenges that we are facing and how we are getting better because of it... As we look in the past and we see the power and presence of God – and God's provision in the history of Christianity, Christendom, Protestantism, and the Methodist movement, and in this new way of being Methodist and taking it forward – the same God that saw us through the challenges of the past 250 years is the same God that I'm certain will see us through the next 250 years. So, it always fills me with a resolved since of hope and faith as I reconnect with my personal and theological roots."

Renner hopes others will feel hopeful as well as they gain a practical understanding of who we are as Methodists.

"This is one of my favorite classes that I get to teach," Renner shared happily. "I wish I got to do it more often but you have to wait for enough new folks to come to be interested in something like this – but I know how life-changing it was for me when I found a faith tradition like this one and if I can help anyone discover that same sort of passion, then that makes it all worth it."

People interested in Methodism, John Wesley, and White's Chapel (and the new Methodist Collegiate College) are welcome to attend. If you would like to grow your understanding of our denomination and local church, please register online to attend Methodism 101.

Online registration is required to attend and to ensure enough seating and food is available. Childcare is available upon registration.

"As one who grew up outside Methodism, who grew up in a faith tradition outside the whole Wesleyan family, I know how important it can be to get an 'inside view' of this faith tradition and what makes us different from a lot of the other faith traditions – what makes us special – and I do believe that we are special – but what distinguishes us from other denominations... especially those who may have been thinking about joining the church but they don't really know – they've never really experienced Methodism before – I think this is a really great opportunity," Renner said.

COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

Labyrinth Walk

Wednesdays | Oct. 4, Nov. 1 & Dec. 6
9 a.m. | WC Labyrinth

A labyrinth is an ancient symbol that relates to wholeness. It combines the imagery of the circle and spiral into a meandering but purposeful path. Labyrinths have long been used as meditation and prayer tools and are a part of the pilgrimage path to wholeness and holiness. At its most basic level, the labyrinth is a metaphor for the journey to the center of your deepest self and back out into the world with a broadened understanding of who you are.

Join Rev. Victor Resendiz on the first Wednesday of each month as he leads participants through a prayer walk. The labyrinth is located next to the Center for Spiritual Care. Whether you are familiar with this unique spiritual practice or not, you are invited to experience this sacred space. All are welcome; please register online.

Moms Missing Moms Support Group Second Wednesday of the Month 6 p.m. | Room 2234

Moms Missing Moms is a monthly support group for motherless daughters and motherless mothers of all ages who have lost their mother through death, losing her through illness, or by estrangement. The intention of this group is to process grief and loss in a safe and confidential setting.

Raising children and managing daily life can be hard enough with support. We will lean on and support each other as we navigate life without our moms. This is an experience rich with storytelling, sharing, remembering, and transitioning to a new normal that holds the internal image of mother in a different way.

The group meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. in room 2234 (second floor of Evans Hall). Registration is required if you wish to have childcare. Childcare is available for infants to 3-year-olds. Kids can participate in WC Kids programming (up to sixth grade). It is not required to attend every month.
